AUTOETHNOGRAPHY FIRST DRAFT RESPONSE

Writer's Nickname:

Reader's Nickname:

Directions:

Read the draft completely before responding. Respond honestly and critically but with courtesy. This exercise will help you become a more informed critic of your own writing and writing in general.

1. How would you describe your initial response to this essay? Begin, "As a reader, I . . ."
2. What was interesting and effective about this paper? What needs development?
3. Are there enough details and descriptions to illustrate the writer's discourse community effectively, and where might the writer add further details?
4. How well does the writer tie in class concepts and terms into the paper? Where might more of this content be needed to make the class connections?
